

For experts and partner cities

As a part of this information system, there was also the operation of Information Service on the environment ENVIS at envis.praha-mesto.cz. The preparation of the new Prague environment website in English was also based on the experience with a several-year operation of the above-mentioned service.

Within the scope of this new one we would also like to provide basic expert information about environment and its protection in Prague to officials not only from Prague's partner EU cities and elsewhere including possible potential partners and also other applicants interested in the environment protection in big cities and to share our existing experience in order to contribute to the international information exchange in this area.
